"THIS IS YOUR LIFE: MISS KATE FRANKLIN

A program honoring Miss Kate Franklin, of Pamplin, was given at Elon Baptist Church, Pamplin, on Saturday evening, March the 22nd, at 8:00 o'clock. The occasion for the entertainment was a commemoration of "Miss Kate's" services to the community and to her church over a period of forty-six years. During these years, she has served as Sunday School teacher, organist, pianist, president of the Ladies Aid Society, and president of the Women's Missionary Society. She has also participated in many other community organizations and activities. Recently, she has resigned as church organist — a position she had held since 1912, following the resignation of Mrs. Leslie Lapsley of Pamplin.

Mr. Walter J. Payne, Jr., principal of Waynesboro High School, and a native of Pamplin, was chairman of the committee for the entertainment. Other members of the committee were Mrs. Annie Carter Harris, Mrs. Clyde Dickerson and Mr. Leslie Pankey, all of Pamplin.

The theme of the program was borrowed from the Ralph Edwards Television Show — "This is Your Life" — was entitled, "This is Your Life, Miss Kate Franklin."

Mr. Thomas Boyd Mason, of Lynchburg, was master of ceremonies; and, as an "emcee," he could very definitely "pinch-hit" for Mr. Edwards — some persons in the audience were heard to remark that he was even better than the before-mentioned Mr. Edwards. He did a wonderful job of directing the series of honors and the participants on the program at ease. He introduced "Miss Kate" and showed him self as being honored and privileged in having his part on the program. Introduced as married to a cousin of "Kinley's," "Kinley" — the name by which "Miss Kate" is affectionately called by her relatives). (Mr. Mason married the former Emily Ann Wilkins, daughter of Mrs. Emily Ann Wilkins, and King and grand-daughter of Mrs. S. H. Franklin and the late Mr. Franklin, of Lynchburg.)

Friends of "Miss Kate's" youth, former pupils, and one of her present-day pupils took part in the program. Letters were heard over the public address system from behind the scene. "Miss Kate" did an excellent job of identifying them, failing only twice to recognize a "voice from the past." Some of these "voices" belonged to the following persons: Mrs. Lou North of Lynchburg; she was the former Lou Davis of Pamplin; Mr. Jack Davis of Pamplin; Mr. James T. Davis of Lynchburg; Miss Wilda Thornton of Pamplin; Mr. Wayne Foster of Pamplin; Mr. W. J. Payne, Sr., of Pamplin; Mrs. Alice Marshall, of Pamplin, impersonating Miss Vernie Wheeler in the rendition of a once-familiar song; Mrs. Judson Covington, the former Miss Sara Coleman of Prospect; Miss Mattie Torrence, of Pamplin; Mr. Jerry Burke, Superintendent of Appomattox County Schools, Appomattox; Mrs. Catherine Gills Frazier, of Kenbridge; and Mrs. Cornelia Gills Conner, of Halifax.

In addition to the persons present who paid tribute to "Miss Kate," a number of letters from friends of her past were read by Mr. Mason; among these were letters form Mr. John T. Morton, of Lynchburg, formerly of Pamplin; Mrs. Nelle Harwood Graves, of Bluefield; F. Lawson Pankey, pastor of Ainslee Baptist Church, Norfolk; Mr. Robert T. Hubbard, Dillwyn; Walter C. Dresser, a former pupil and outstanding pianist, of Emmaus, Pennsylvania; John S. Moore, pastor of Manly Memorial Baptist Church, Lexington, and former pastor of Elon Baptist Church, Pamplin; Colonel Joe O'Brien of Fort Lee, formerly of Appomattox; and lastly, a letter from the Reverend Samuel G. Harwood, of Victoria; this letter really summarized all the tribute given in her honor, in a very beautiful manner.

Recognition was given to several former pupils of "Miss Kate" who still live in the Pamplin community and have done outstanding work in music. Some of them are Jane Grey Paulette Inge, Martha Hughs, Mrs. Elsie Carter Harris, and Walter J. Payne, Jr.

In 1953, "Miss Kate" retired from the active teaching of music in the town of Appomattox; and, at that time, she was given a party in her honor there; Miss Flora Belle Williams, principal of the Appomattox Elementary School, showed colored slides of this affair and made comments about the pictures.

Snapshots and photographs of "Miss Kate" and members of her family were shown by the Rev. Harold Anderson, pastor of Elon Baptist Church, and were commented upon by Bess Franklin Mattox, a cousin of the honoree.

The last "voice" to be heard over the public address system was a "voice from the present" — that of Master Malcolm Grey Inge, "Miss Kate's" youngest pupil, at the present time! Malcolm Grey presented her with the gifts — two lovely gifts of jewelry—one of them a gold medallion, with her monogram engraved on one side and a beautiful inscription on the other, expressing appreciation for her many years of faithful service.

After the presentation of the gifts, refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed in the rooms in the rear of the church.

Senior Cast Selects Cast For April Play

The Senior Class of A. H. S. will present "Life of The Party," a new comedy by Marrijane and Joseph Hayes, on April 10, at 8:00 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The admission fee is .25 for students and .50 for adults.

If you would enjoy watching a lively, understanding study of modern youth and the modern family — warm and funny, brisk and tender and full of hilarious situations and dialogue, come and meet the Hughes family. They have just moved to Butterfield, where they make new friends and adjust themselves to new situations in a lively manner.

Mr. Hughes is baffled, yet intrigued, by the actions of his family. Who wouldn't be with four children as varied in manner and actions as Jean, the studious member of the group; Teddy, her funny and fancy-free brother; Mildred, her sophisticated co-ed sister; and Amy, the youngest, who falls in love for the first time? Jean plays havoc with the family's plans when she arranges a party at her home and decides to be the life of the party.

Those participating in the production are:
Jean Hughes, Jane Catlett
Mildred Hughes, Ruth Austin
Amy Hughes, Lois Ashworth
Mrs. Harriett Hughes, Ellen Adams
Mrs. Victoria Coates, Isabelle Coleman
Sally Frazier, Betty Baldwin
Dottie Fikmiller, Charlene Thomas

IN MEMORIAM

In loving and tender memory of our Mother and Grandmother, Mrs. Florence H. Barlow, who departed this life one year ago, March 23, 1957.

Hearts are heavy since you left us,
Through the whole long day;
But your spirit hovers o'er us,
All along the way.

How we yearn to feel your handclasp,
Hear your voice once more;
Have your guidance, wise and loving,
As in days of yore!

But you've entered through that doorway,
Where no night can come;
Safely sheltered in God's Heaven,
Your eternal home.

Sadly missed

About The Home

By Frances Dell

To get best results when you are decorating a narrow room, you will find that light flooring and light walls are your best choice. If wood paneling is used, it should be light pine paneling, not heavier woods. Ceilings must take to the light look, too. A good trick to know is that a little blue added to the white painted ceiling will lend height to your room.

Paintings across the long wall may help to create depth. A large painting should be chosen if you want the maximum effect. A mirror is often used to achieve a feeling of depth, also.

Avoid heavy drapery materials in a narrow room. These will give the appearance of closing in the room even more.

Avoid such deep colors as red, green, or blue when decorating the narrow room. Choose instead pastels or off-whites. Delicate patterns in wall paper or fabrics may be used with success. Remember that it is always a good idea not to use dramatic patterns in a small room in the upholstery, or drapery materials.

Small-scale furniture adds width to the room. Take advantage of Danish and Swedish designs.

It is best not to put the sofa under the window of a narrow room, as this will give you additional wall space to fill up, whereas the window itself may serve to break up wall space. Picture windows are wonderful to add depth to a narrow room. However, keep in mind that a large window must look out on some attractive view to be of any importance in a room. Picture windows with no view except one of the street or your neighbor's clothes-line should have drapes to break the outlook.

WATER COLOR EXHIBITION

The Elizabeth Nottingham Days Water Color Exhibit is on display at Appomattox Elementary School from March 20 through April 3. Hours for the exhibit are from 9 to 3:30, Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Day was born in North Carolina and received her early education at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg. After her graduation, she studied for three years in Europe. In 1941 she married an artist, Horace Day, and both became art instructors at Mary Baldwin College. Mrs. Day was made head of the department in 1942 and remained there until her death in 1956.

She was a stimulating teacher and encouraged her students not only to paint but to appreciate art. As an assistant State Art Supervisor of WPA, she was influencial in bringing art projects to rural communities in Virginia. She was also president of the Virginia Art Alliance and member of the Virginia Art Commission.

Mrs. Day and her husband spent their summers painting in Southwest Virginia, New England and Edista Island, S. C.

Mrs. Day achieved a direct and spontaneous style, which was disciplined by her sure sense of design and awareness of color harmonies, and rhythmic compositional arrangements.

Her work has been exhibited nationally and is represented in the collections of many Gallaries and Museums, including the Virginia Art Museum, Richmond, Va.

This exhibition of Mrs. Day's is a loan from the Mureum.
